This year, Li Long from Cascades at Galaxy Macau competed in the Assistant Cook (Western Kitchen) category for the first time. He thanked GEG for encouraging him to join the competition and said, “Contestants were given two hours to cook a soup and a main course. The hardest part of the competition is time management. I had spent time practicing my foundational skills before the competition, and with the guidance of my supervisors, my time management and culinary skills have improved. Apart from self-motivation, the support of my supervisors and colleagues was crucial in motivating me.”
